

Monday, Oct. 25

Arts & Letters Live: Margaret Verble at Dallas Museum of Art

Pulitzer Prize finalist Margaret Verble lands at the Horchow Auditorium of the DMA (1717 N. Harwood St.) to discuss her latest novel When Two Feathers Fell from the Sky at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Oct. 25. While Verble is a citizen of the Cherokee Nation of Oklahoma, this new work centers on a Cherokee main character, a horse-diver named Two Feathers. Animals, the spiritual world and fast friends are all themes, so we anticipate a lively conversation between Verble and Texas Christian University's Dr. Theresa Gaul. Ticket prices vary between in-person and virtual, and with or without book purchase, so find out more at the Dallas Museum of Art.

Margaret Verble will discuss her latest book at the DMA on Monday. Mariner Books

Can We Talk? Rules of Engagement for Civil Discourse at Dallas Holocaust and Human Rights Museum

Honest and thoughtful dialogue in 2021? It's possible. The internet and certain TV personalities may not make it seem so, but it can happen and panelists from the Dallas Bar Association, the Dallas Holocaust and Human Rights Museum, and Project Unity are ready to dive in 6 p.m. Monday, Oct. 25. The discussion is a virtual one (using Zoom) and features deputy publisher of The Dallas Morning News Leona Allen, senior fellow at Harvard Law School and the founder and principal of The Cambridge Negotiation Institute Robert C. Bardone and former general counsel of the Central Intelligence Agency Courtney Simmons Elwood. The event is free, with registration required per device.

Tuesday, Oct. 26